

Hong Kong Society of Nephrology Research Grant (HKSNRG) 2010

Objectives of HKSNRG

1. To support local research projects in nephrology, which can be clinical, basic scientific, psychosocial, nursing or related to health economics.
2. To promote research culture among members of the Hong Kong Society of Nephrology.

HKSNRG Awards

HKSNRG will be awarded under three categories, namely: Clinical research, Basic science research and Nursing research. The clinical or basic science research applications will be reviewed by both external and local reviewers, and the nursing research applications will be reviewed by local reviewers only. For all clinical or basic science research projects by any full or associate members, the normal maximum award is HK$40,000 but may be up to $60,000 according to the discretion of the Council. Full members can also apply for the Young Investigator Award if he/she is 35 years old or below as on 31 May 2010, and has not received any research grant from any institution/Fund before. Nursing research projects can only be applied by nursing colleagues, and the maximum award is HK$ 20,000. The administrative fee for individual institution could not be reimbursed. Equipment needed for the proposed project should be essential and basic model.

There will be six awards for the year 2010. Among which, at least two will be designated to clinical research, one to basic science research, and one to nursing research. In addition, a HKSNRG Young Investigator Award of $ 30,000 would be granted to the applicant for the Young Investigator Award with the best passing score not awarded with the usual grants.

Eligibility of Applications

1. The Principal Investigator (applicant) must be a member (full or associate) of HKSAN.
2. Priority will be given to Principal Investigators who are not eligible to apply for funding from the Research Grants Council of HKSAR.
3. Research proposal must be related to Nephrology. The field of research can be clinical, basic scientific, psychosocial, nursing or related to health economics.
4. The Principal Investigator can hold only one HKSNRG at any one time.
5. The Principal Investigator shall not be awarded the grant for more than two consecutive years.

Other Requirements

1. Projects which involve human subjects must have approval by relevant Ethics Committee before a grant is awarded
2. Successful applicants are required to submit half yearly Progress Reports to the Council of HKSAN. Upon completion of the study, the principal investigator is required to submit a Completion Report to the Council of HKSAN.
3. The Principal Investigator is to notify the HKSAN Council upon completion of the study. In addition, he/she must submit the research findings for presentation at the forthcoming HKSAN Annual Scientific Meeting and to acknowledge the funding support of the HKSAN Research Grant in the article if the research is submitted for publication.
4. Investigators must follow the proposed time schedule of the research project. Failure to do so without justification may jeopardize future grant applications from the same Principal Investigator.
5. Should there be any change in status of the Principal Investigator (e.g. change in affiliation etc) or investigation plan after submission of application, the Principal Investigator must notify the HKSAN Council in writing to justify the feasibility of the proposal after such changes. The eligibility of the application, even after its initial approval, will be reviewed by the Council.
6. Successful applicants who fail to hand in all necessary documents (e.g. Ethics approval etc.) before 31 May 2011 will automatically forfeit the approved grant.
